LOMOND, ALBERTA, FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 22, 1918.

$1.00 PER YEAR.

LOCALETS

The Associated Farmers stockholders meeting did not draw a quorum on Wednesday afternoon — undoubtedly due to the intense cold. An adjournment has been made till March 16th.

The council of the Rural Municipality of Clifton will meet in Travers on Monday, Feb. 25th.

Mr. Terry, the Ogilvie travelling auditor, has been at the local house for the past few days giving things the once over.

L. M. Swain is under quarantine with chicken pox.

The Central Garage has now completed the installation of a complete electric lighting system and battery charging plant. The outfit has capacity to handle from fifteen to twenty batteries. They are making a strong bid for all the battery business from this part of country, handling the repairs and rebuilding right at Lomond as well as the electric charging. Mr. Bowers has also acquired the agency for the famous "Gen-Co" individual electric light plants.

The "Old Settlers" are holding their first annual ball in the Kinnondale Hall on Friday evening next, March 1st.

Post Office Inspector Humphries was in town last Friday making the transfer to Mr. Ferris. The office was moved from the drug store to the Ferris building on Monday.

The Press is in receipt of a letter from Cadet W. A. Isaacs, R. F. C., in training at Armour Heights Camp at Toronto. He states that snow is so deep that it is necessary to fit the aeroplanes with skids in order to make them safe to land. W. A. appears to be quite taken with military life.

Mrs. St. John has returned from a short visit to Calgary.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Brown were in Calgary last week.

Mercury was seriously contracted in these parts during the past week, touching thirty-two below on one occasion. The blizzard on Sunday last was about the worst storm of the winter.

Mrs. R. A. Ferris takes the church services in the I.O.O.F. Hall on Sunday evening.

Herman Ulrich of Travers was a business visitor in town yesterday. He and Mrs. Ulrich have just returned from an extended trip to Washington and California.

Mr. Thompson, of Grass Lake, has taken a position in the Central Garage repair shop.

SUCCESSFUL CONCERT

With an admission fee of 25 and 50 cents the concert on Monday evening provided a revenue in the neighborhood of seventy-five dollars, which amount will be applied towards liquidating the church notes.

The programme was exceptionally well received. The several musical numbers were rendered in a very creditable and pleasing manner and several from the audience have since remarked on the advisability of keeping together and further development of our own local talent. The solos by Mrs. Mitchell and Mr. Snowden might be particularly mentioned, and the Scotch selections by Mr. Erskine drew repeated calls for encores.

"The White Shawl" given by the friends from Badger Lake, provided a three-quarter hour of amusement while the "Doctor" and "Aunt Betsy" portrayed the susceptibilities of those "smitten" in their mature years. The support in the other four characters was well in keeping with the two major parts. The general effect was greatly enhanced by the nicely decorated stage setting, the work of D. E. Snowden.

The Ladies' Aid served a splendid supper in the church, but more than likely due to the extreme cold weather, their tables did not receive the patronage their service warranted.

Below is given the entire programme:

McKenna---Gillis

The following from the Morning Albertan of Feb. 14th. is of interest to readers in Lomond.

A very pretty wedding was solemnized at St. Mary's Cathedral, Calgary, on February 12, the Rev. Father Newman officiating, when Miss Catherine Marjorie Gillis, formerly of Inverness, Nova Scotia, was married to Mr. Francis O. McKenna, barrister of Lomond, Alta. Miss Catherine E. Madden being bridesmaid, while Mr. W. A. McDonald, barrister, of Calgary, assisted the groom. After the ceremony the bridal party retired to the Palliser, where a wedding breakfast was served. The bride was very prettily attired in a suit of mountain purple with fox fur and white hat and carried a bouquet of roses and carnations. The bridesmaid wore a rose satin dress with a white fox fur and a black picture hat. The groom's gift to the bridesmaid was a cameo pendant. Mr. and Mrs. McKenna left on the evening train for a visit to the northern cities.

Seems like as if Lloyd George has his jolly well own troubles with those Lords of High Decision in the English House. Tradition dies a slow and painful death.

COUNCIL ASKS

SANCTION OF $6000.00 DEBENTURES

The Village Council called a meeting of the ratepayers last Friday night as a feeler on a proposed bond issue of six thousand dollars for local improvements. It is proposed to spend two thousand on sidewalks, two thousand on street grading and two thousand towards providing a water supply.

If the scheme is OK'd it is proposed to secure a well site south of town, sink a well and purchase a team and outfit and hire a man to operate it and if he should have time on his hands, to keep the streets in repair and team away the accumulation of rubbish. It is also proposed to sink one or two more deep wells in different parts of the town.

The town can easily assume this obligation without embarrassment and the suggested improvements are obviously needed.

NOTES

The Press would suggest to the Village Council a coat of gravel over Railway avenue.

Americans in Canada and likewise Canadians in the States are required to register under the Military Service Act.

Germany has undertaken to show the Russians that this "comrade" stuff of theirs won't work. Of course it won't. For a year no one has known where Russia was at, much less the Russians themselves. Maybe a good jolt of German "kulture" will bring them to their senses.

It is announced that Military Class One is to be re-combed to ascertain if there are not more available men from that source.

First Russia lost her vodka, then she lost her punch remarks the "Post-Express". Hope she doesn't let Germany liquor, adds the Kingston "Whig", which does not want to see the Bolsh-eviki snared in the gin of the Teuton says the Toronto "Globe". These newspaper humorists are rum beggars, even if some of them are Scotch.

Bow City Red Cross

Since the year closed in October, the Society has sent $250 cash to headquarters; has purchased $100 worth of supplies and sent in 469 articles, and has still about $50 on hand. The funds of the society were augmented through the kindness of Mr. George Ketchmark in donating a horse for a raffle. A goose was also donated for the same purpose by a couple of the miners.

The branch has now 11 life members and 24 active members. They meet on Tuesday of every week and for greater convenience now meet in two places. The superintendent of supplies, Mrs. Scroggie, has now a good stock of yarn on hand and will be glad to furnish anyone with yarn to knit socks for the brave fellows "somewhere in France".

The ladies of Bow City neighborhood have also a Soldiers' Aid Fund. This is to pay for any expense in connection with sending boxes to the boys from this district. Periodically, all who have gone from here receive boxes, the ladies packing and sending the boxes, the miners and others putting up the necessary cash outlay.

Mr. Wilson Shaw, who lately joined up, reporting for duty in Calgary, was given a farewell dance in Bow City Hall on Jan. 18th., and, very properly he was presented with a purse of $25 accompanied by the best wishes of his many friends.

Within the bounds of Eyremore Circuit about twenty of our young men have now joined some section of the Canadian forces and surely there breathes no man or woman with soul so dead who will not feel like helping in making the boys who have gone feel that we at home are trying to do our part, and to help send out of our bounty a few little knick-knacks in the shape of "eats" is the least anyone can do.

Badger Lake

Mr. and Mrs. George Johnson and F. L. Bratton are home from their holiday trip to Oregon, reporting an exceedingly pleasant outing.

Our amateur dramatists raided Lomond on Monday night, accompanied by a few local admirers.

F. A. Stephens arrived home via Brooks on Sunday, travelling through that horrible blizzard and sustaining a number of frost-bites.

Mr. Haynes is giving up the post office and it is expected that S. A. Trew will be his successor.

H. Booth's baby has been dangerously ill, suffering from appendicitis.

E. G. Haley is in Edmonton this week attending the Alberta Agricultural Societies Convention as a delegate from the Lomond Society.

George Johnson lost a valuable mare on Sunday.

Local dancing sports took in the hop at Travers last Friday.

Our mail was again delayed on Saturday—in fact it was found dead on the road between here and town.

G. Hauger returned home last week having spent a couple of months on a winter holiday trip.

Mrs. Wm. Burton is home again, having spent the past two months in Detroit, Mich., U. S. A.

HARD WORK FOR CUPID.

Roumanian Farmers Try to Keep Their Sons From Wedlock.

The Roumanian farmer doesn't think much of matrimony. A bachelor hasn't missed much, in his opinion. And when his son gets the marrying bee buzzing in his bosom the Roumanian dad is apt to take a hickory club and beat it out of the young man's system.

That's why the Roumanian youth when he is in love never confides the happy secret to his father. He goes and tells his mother, for women still believe in love and marriage, although they lead from the altar to the wash-tub. But the father has faced the mule heels and the plow handles so long in his hard struggle to feed the hungry mouths opened to him by marriage that he has forgotten he was once a lover sighing lover's tales. He is about as much in favor of state wide matrimony as a sick boy is in favor of castor oil.

So the son tells his mother. The mother feeds father the best dinner she can cook, and when the old man is in a mellow mood she breaks the sad news about their boy. If she is skillful enough she wins his grouchy consent, and he calls in his two best men friends. These two go with his son to the girl's home. Perhaps she has heard nothing of the love affair, but when she sees them coming she guesses what's up. Her father entertains the visitors, and if he lets the fire go out it means he has taken this method to turn them down cold.

Roumanian wives all have silk dresses or silk shawls. Their husbands do not buy the silk for them; the women raise it themselves.

Teeth Gritting a Symptom.

When children grit their teeth, either asleep or as a habit when awake, it is generally a sign that they have adenoid growths back of their noses and need the attention of a physician. Dr. C. E. Benjamins tells in a journal of Amsterdam of his experience with 1,544 cases of adenoids, in which about 37 per cent of the children were teeth gritters, and in most of the cases the gritting ceased when the adenoids were removed. Among 115 teeth gritters he examined for troubles other than adenoids all but two were found to have adenoids.

Art in America.

The first school of painting to establish itself on American soil was that of Spain, following in the train of viceroys and prelates after the Indian commonwealths had been subjected and Spanish towns had been built. To the present day there exists in the City of Mexico the oldest academy of the fine arts in the western world, the Academy of San Carlos. It is nearly as old as the Royal Academy, London.

Fogs Are Valuable.

It has been discovered that fogs, especially ocean fogs, are valuable. Fogs are the principal fertilizers of the great bean fields of California. The fields are dry farmed. Rain means ruin. Yet moisture is a necessity. This is furnished in just the right degree by fogs.

He Told Her.

It was the first ball game she had ever attended.

"Why do they call that thing the plate?" was her forty-seventh question.

"Why—er—because that's where the drops from the pitcher are caught," he replied, his reason cracking under the strain.

Canadian Editor Tries Again.

"I learn that the National News is about to be revived," says the Liverpool Post correspondent. "It presents an example of audacity, for the running of a Sunday paper in war time is no light task. When it ended in June, possibly those who had appreciated its rather brilliant standard of writing hardly believed in its promised resurrection. The Canadian editor, Mr. De Beck, has plenty of persistent enterprise behind his gold pincenez and under his high forehead." This enterprising Canadian is endeavoring to give a Sunday paper to London.

A Ford Car Takes the Place of all These Things

WHEN you own a Ford you can do away with many articles that are a source of continuous expense to the man who still drives a horse. For instance, not only your driving-horse and buggy, but the single harness, blankets, whips, currycombs, brushes, horse-shoes, pitch-forks, feed-bins, etc.

In their place you have a speedy, dependable, dignified, roomy Ford Car—complete in itself. It is vastly superior to the narrow, cramped buggy that travels so slowly. And when a Ford is standing idle it does not eat three meals a day, and it requires no "looking after."

A Ford will save you time, trouble, and money. It is the utility car for the busy farmer and his family.

A Warning to Farmers!

Our duty to the nation, as well as our duty to our customers, impels us to warn the farmers of this community of the danger of delay in placing orders for repairs they may need this spring for their farm machines, gas engines and tractors. It is of utmost importance that you examine your farm operating equipment without delay and notify us as soon as possible what parts you require to put the machines in workable condition. Unless we receive this information several weeks in advance of the using season, we will be unable to obtain the parts in time for your needs.

The manufacturers are short of material and labor, and the traffic conditions are causing serious delays in transportation. More time than usual therefore is required to fill orders for both machines and repairs. When you order repairs early you enable us to order in large quantities, which can be transported by freight at a big saving of expense as compared with express or parcel post charges. Late ordering often necessitates telegraphing and telephoning. It is no exaggeration to say that many thousands of dollars are wasted in needless expense every year as the result of delay in making known repair needs.

This year the question of expense is not so important as the question of crop production, which may be seriously interfered with by delay in ordering repairs. All of the machines available for use this year will be needed to increase crop production to the extent required by Great Britain and her Allies.

So important is the question of repair supply that we have selected the week of---

March 4th. to 9th. as Implement Inspection and Repair Week

Implement Inspection and Repair Week will mark the end of a big drive for repair orders for machines to be used in the preparation of the seedbed and in seeding spring sown crops. The farmer who does not make known his wants during that week, or before, will have only himself to blame if the parts he needs are not supplied in good season.

Examine your machines and make a list of broken parts.

A list parts that are badly worn and likely to give out before their work is completed.

Take pains to give correct numbers of numbered parts and complete description of unnumbered parts. Give the trade name or brand of machines. If in any case the brand and manufacturer's name have been obliterated, there is all the more reason for early ordering.

Place your orders at least three weeks before you expect to use the machines. We pledge ourselves to spare no effort to obtain all needed repairs for farmers who will co-operate with us by making known their requirements in accordance with these suggestions.

SINKING A SUBMARINE.

How the U-29 and Its Daring Crew Were Sent to the Bottom.

Von Weddigen, the hero of the German submarine service, after sinking the British cruisers Aboukir, Hogue and Cressy was promoted to a better ship and took command of the U-29, in comparison with the U-9 a biggish brute, a regular "peach," almost an undersea liner.

After a hard day on the job, looking for game in the upper North sea, the U-29 went "to sleep," resting with a slight negative buoyancy on a shelving sand bank. Outside of the watch officer and the regular standing watch, all hands must have turned in, sleeping in their leather suits. It is supposed that, as the watch at the telephones heard the nearing propeller beats of a British destroyer screen, the alarm was sounded—"Tach station!"—with every man flying to his post.

One might imagine that Von Weddigen waited; that the microphones vibrated the slow chugs of big ship propellers, which told him that the British fleet was approaching. Blowing his adjusting tank to a submerged trim, he came to fighting position. His periscope tipped the surface.

He was lucky enough to come between the two columns of the British grand fleet, steaming in line of squadrons, with the Iron Duke leading the right column, flying Jellicoe's flag. The periscope of the U-29 showed up halfway between the squadrons, six cables apart. She got off her torpedo, which passed under the Iron Duke. Immediately she fired No. 2, which also missed, going astern. Because of danger of smashing their own ships none of the British gun crews dared to fire at the German submarine.

But after the second torpedo some thing went wrong with the U-29. Either the valves failed to work, which, by taking water into compensating tanks, were to equalize the weight of the discharged torpedoes, or at the instant the diving rudder man failed in giving enough "down rudder." At any rate, the nose of the submarine shot up above the water.

She started immediately to begin to dive, but the dreadnaught, third in the left column, swung out of line and went full speed for the U boat. The big ship caught her on the ram, spearing her like a whale, and raised her along the cutwater until the submarine was half out of water—a flash, a grinding smash, the U-29 balancing first one way, then the other, and finally dropping, the lettered bow foremost! The dreadnaught swung back into column. Without a signal being made, without a shot fired, the grand fleet proceeded.

This is the true story of how Von Weddigen perished. It came from a man who saw it with his own eyes. Henry Reuterdahl in Saturday Evening Post.

Automobile Radiators.

To assure the efficient operation and long life of your automobile it is essential that the radiator be kept clean. Every radiator has been designed for the purpose of dissipating some of the heat from the engine to prevent it from overheating. The radiator can only accomplish this, advises the Popular Science Monthly, when the radiator cells are cleared of mud, so that the comparatively cool air can circulate through it. Yet many are the cars which are allowed to clog up with mud and dirt until it almost takes a hammer to knock them out. A good antidote is a powerful stream of water from a hose, or where this may not be convenient a stiff brush or a broom will assist in solving the cleaning problem.

The Night Table.

The night table is not as well known in bedroom lore as it might be, I think. It is such a comfort to be able after going to bed to read by the light on the night table and to be able to stretch out a hand at midnight and switch this same light on. On the night table may be kept any of the little things which might in any possibility be needed during the night—a light, a clock, a carafe of drinking water, a book for a chance wakeful hour.

His Trifling Mistake.

Lady Exhibitor (at the close of a baby show)—But, good gracious! This is not my baby, sir! Checktaker—Very sorry, madam. It's the last left. The checks got mixed up somehow. But I'll take care that it shan't occur again.

Tit For Tat.

He—You never consult my wishes in ordering the meals. She—Well, you never consult the market reports in providing an allowance for the household.

The wages of sin are always paid. If there is any delay in settlement compound interest is added.

FOUGHT THE DRAFT

The Scene in New York City During the Riots of 1863.

A BRIEF REIGN OF TERROR.

For Five Days the Mobs Opposed to Conscription Raged Through the Streets, and More Than a Thousand Persons Were Killed or Wounded.

During the draft riots in the war days of 1863 New York city was in the grip of a reign of terror and blood shed for nearly a week. Conscription was begun on the morning of Tuesday, July 13, in a four story brick building at Third avenue and Forty-sixth street, under the supervision of Provost Marshal Jenkins. Assistance and protection had been promised, but no one came to help him and his little force. Drafting commenced at 9 o'clock, and a big crowd stood outside. A stone was hurled through a window at 10:30 o'clock, and soon many more were battering against the walls. Terrorized, the police and draft officers fled to the street, where many of them were roughly handled.

The rioters rushed into the draft office and threw the enrollment books out of the windows to the crowd, which tore the records to shreds. The draft wheel, chairs and tables were smashed, piled in the middle of the room, and a match was applied. This building was one of the many burned, the aggregate loss by incendiary fires being estimated at $2,000,000.

For negroes in the city it was a day of doom, the mob looking upon them as one of the chief causes of the draft. Many of them were killed and wounded, some being shot, others beaten to death and still others hanged to trees and lampposts. The Colored Orphan asylum was burned. Near Fulton market boys killed three negroes and left their bodies on the pier near Fulton ferry entrance.

So suddenly did the shock come that the police and limited force of militia in town could not resist it. There was a hurried conference between Major General Wool, ex-Governor Morgan, General Anthon and Brigadier General Harvey Brown; but, owing to the absence of Governor Horatio Seymour, whose opinion was wanted, martial law was not declared. Brigadier General Brown, however, took command of the troops in the city and summoned from nearby points all available soldiers. Mayor George Opdyke issued an anti-riot proclamation.

During the afternoon a mob swept along Fifth avenue, destroying property. They were ready to burn Mayor Opdyke's home, but Judge Barnard saved it by telling the crowd the only way to resist the draft was by bringing it before the court. He promised he would issue a writ of habeas corpus for any drafted man for whom application should be made. In all the mobs were many infuriated women, whose actions were often worse than those of the men.

Horace Greeley, who was a particular object of aversion to the rioters, started, as usual, from his home in Nineteenth street to go on a Fourth avenue car to the Tribune office. Friends told him of his danger, and he spent the day in Windust's restaurant, at Park row and Ann street, and went home at night in a closed carriage while mobs were demanding his blood. Governor Seymour issued a proclamation the next day calling on all citizens to stand by the constituted authorities and assist in maintaining order. Rioting, however, continued throughout the day and night, the police, soldiers and mobs having many fatal encounters.

On the third day the rioting continued, and many of the mob and the city's defenders were killed or wounded. The federal authorities postponed the draft, but trouble did not cease at once, as many of the rioters thought the action was a governmental trick to gain time. The fourth day brought further disorders in New York and Brooklyn. Archbishop Hughes addressed a crowd in front of his home, urging them to keep the peace. His plea had a soothing effect.

On the fifth day fighting ceased and order was partly restored. A heavy storm also dampened the ardor of the tired rioters. General James B. Fry, provost marshal general of the United States, issued an order that drafting would be resumed. Brigadier General E. R. S. Canby assumed command of the Federal troops in the city, relieving General Brown. A roundup of ringleaders among the rioters followed, and many were arrested. By July 30 order was completely restored.

More than 1,000 persons were killed or wounded during the rioting, among them Colonel O'Brien of the Eleventh New York volunteers, then in the city on recruiting duty. He ventured out in uniform after having conspicuously opposed the mob. He was seized, beaten, dragged through the streets and finally hung into his own back yard, where he died.

Repotting Plants.

Repotting plants becomes necessary at intervals from two considerations. The plant uses up the available fertility in the soil and fills the pot with roots. In repotting plants it is well to shake off whatever earth can be separated without breaking and injuring the roots. Then water and shade for a few days.

WEDDING RINGS.

Their Descent From the Ancient Signet Rings of Egypt.

It was under the shadow of the pyramids that brides first wore rings as symbols of wedlock.

In the early Egyptian home it was the custom of the wife to keep all of her jars, closets and storerooms sealed. A different seal ordinarily was used for every door or jars containing certain foods. Preserved sweets, for instance, would be sealed with one device and some sharp appetizer with another. So the course of time brought the Egyptian woman a goodly number of seals, the special mark of her wifehood.

Then it became a custom for the bridegroom on his wedding day to present the future homemaker with a little string of seals. In the beginning they usually were suspended from an ornamental chain about her neck, but afterward it became the custom to carry the keys on an ornamental cord around the wrist. And finally the keys were attached to a woman's finger by means of a cord or gold wire. This naturally meant reduction in the number of seals, and some genius of the days of old hit upon the idea of combining the seal and the wire together, from which we get the signet ring. Such a ring was regularly presented to the bride on her wedding day.

Things had reached this state of progress when keys seem to have been first used in Egypt to any great extent. The coming of locks did away with the wifely seals and her peculiar mark of sovereignty in the home. By degrees the signet ring went out of fashion as the special prerogative of the bride and was succeeded by a plain band ring such as every young lady of today expects to wear. Numbers of these plain and signet rings have been found in the old tombs of northern Africa, mute evidence of loves long since dead and gone.

Peace on Earth.

Peace on earth would mean the liberation of human faculties for the highest and noblest achievements of which human nature is capable. It would mean a splendid efflorescence of art, literature, science, philosophy and religion—in short, culture in its best sense as the spontaneous unfolding of the powers of personality. — David Jayne Hill in Century.

Table Manners.

To put the elbows on the table is to confess indifference to rules of etiquette. This attitude should remain peculiar to grillrooms, where it originated. Those who observe the details of good form keep their hands in their laps when not employed with the knife and fork.

LOMOND DISTRICT.

Miss Burne, of Gleichen, is here keeping house for her brothers, while Mr. and Mrs. Burne are holidaying in Calgary.

Miss Edith Clanfield arrived home on the 13th., after an enjoyable stay of a few months in Calgary.

We are again in the unmerciful clutches of Jack Frost, but we wish him a premature death.

R. H. Dobson has been rushing the hog market this past week, he having sold over 900 lbs. of live pork.

We hear from a more or less reliable source that Adolf Blank has laid down his gauntlets while on his visit in B. C. and is expected home soon with his bride.

A few are sending away already for their garden seeds. We expect some keen competition in the garden line next summer.

Automobile drivers are working their passage these days. One of the mail carriers for out-lying post offices was found a mile east of town last Saturday in a dead car very much under the influence of frost bites. He was rushed to the "Chink's" and was put to bed. He was seen on the street later, so his frost bites, we are glad to say, could not have been serious.

When our attention is drawn to the large acreage of land in this district that has not yet seen a plow, we are apt to believe that the government is lax in the face of the serious shortage of wheat caused by the war. This land is worth more to the owners under cultivation and the help derived from these sections of raw land would be highly beneficial to the Allies. The new government is young yet, but now is the time the supreme effort should be made—not some time in the future when it might be too late.

Mr. Smith, from near Champion, who owns the west half of the Hudson Bay section east of town, intends to send his plowing outfit out here this summer to break up this land. Mr. Montgomery who owns a quarter corner on this land, will operate Mr. Smith's plowing outfit and will probably break up a good deal of his own quarter before the season is ended.

Mrs. Robert Thompson is progressing favorably out of a serious attack of a serious attack of pneumonia.
